A street scene in Japan, likely in the area of Ikenomiya 1-chome. The road is paved with asphalt and features prominent orange and white markings, including a series of orange diagonal stripes and white dashed lines. On the left side, there is a sidewalk with a metal fence and some utility equipment. On the right side, there are residential buildings with traditional Japanese architectural elements, such as tiled roofs and a black metal fence. A dark-colored car is parked on the right side of the road. In the background, a green truck is visible on the road. The overall scene is a typical residential street in Japan.
